Curriculum Philosophy

Our camp cultivates creativity, health, and community. Our classes and community are designed to develop practices which campers can continue once they leave Full Circle. Though we have a presentation at the end of our week, the aim of our classes is process and not product.

Creative Practice Class Offerings for 2022

Art-

Visual arts and crafts, such as drawing, painting, and printmaking.

Beginning Guitar- Bryan McCormick

A course of study for students who have had little or no guitar training.

Intermediate/Advanced Guitar- Javier Ortega

For students who have played for at least one year & have an introduction to reading notation

Drama-

Acting, stagecraft, drama games, and short skits for performance.

Wildwords-

Writing practice: journaling, poems, stories, songs, memoir, plays.

World Beat- Brandon Draper

Hand drum and percussion rhythms from across the globe.

Physical Class Offerings for 2022

Yoga- Jey Bernal

Breathing and postures to promote health and awareness.

Arnis- Sean Etigson

Medicine Trail- Bryan McCormick

Short hikes around the area, learning the local flora and fauna.

Cross Country- Kai and Amaya Coblentz

Short runs, games, and plyometrics leading to a run up to Battleship Falls.

The Connor O’Loughlin Mantsch Memorial Scholarship celebrates the life of a remarkable young person by recognizing other young people who possess similar qualities of character, kindness, integrity, and wisdom.

Connor embodied the ideals of Full Circle by cultivating creativity, health, and community in his life. He was a seeker of knowledge and meaning with a unique connectedness to nature and a rare ability to express himself so beautifully through music and poetry.

Campers may apply for the scholarship by submitting a short essay, poem, song, painting, or multi-media presentation to Sean Etigson (sean@fullcircleproductions.org).

Submissions should highlight creativity, health, or community; they may also include thoughts on the meaning of Full Circle. All submissions are due by June 15, 2021.

If you would like to make a contribution to the Connor O’Loughlin Mantsch Memorial Scholarship to Full Circle, please contact Sean Etigson, Director of Full Circle Summer Camp at sean@fullcircleproductions.org or 505-363-2496.
